

On Thursday, February 4th St. John's Museum Warwick visited Year 1 to lead a toys and games workshop. The children were given lots of toys from the past to experiment and play with. They enjoyed being able to work out how they were used and what materials they were made from and to put them in time chronological order. The children had a question and answer session with the group leader and chose their favourite toy and explained why they liked it so much. The pupils realised how toys have changed today from those that their Victorian ancestors would have played with. It was great fun!
